OMNIBUS REPLY IN SUPPORT OF PLAN ADMINISTRATOR’S MOTION FOR (I) FINAL
DECREE CLOSING THE DEBTOR’S CHAPTER 11 CASE
PURSUANT TO SECTION 350(a) OF THE BANKRUPTCY
CODE AND BANKRUPTCY RULE 3022, (II) TERMINATING
CLAIMS AND NOTICING AGENT, AND (III) GRANTING RELATED RELIEF

Development Specialists, Inc., in its capacity as Plan Administrator (the “Plan Administrator”) for Adelphia Communications Corporation, as debtor in the above-captioned case (the “Debtor”) hereby files this omnibus reply (the “Reply”) in support of Plan Administrator’s Motion for (I) Final Decree Closing the Debtor’s Chapter 11 Case Pursuant to Section 350(a) of the Bankruptcy Code and Bankruptcy Rule 3022, (II) Terminating Claims and Noticing Agent, and (III) Granting Related Relief [Docket No. 14994] (the “Motion”) ¹ and in response to the objections filed by Mr. Mapin Desai [Docket No. 14887] and Mr. Patrick Foote [Docket No. 14886] (each, an “Objection” and together “Objections”). In support of the Motion, the Plan Administrator respectfully submits the Declaration of Thomas P. Jeremiassen in Support of the Plan Administrator’s Motion for (I) Final Decree Closing the Debtor’s Chapter 11 Case Pursuant to Section 350(a) of the Bankruptcy Code and Bankruptcy Rule 3022, (II) Terminating Claims and Noticing Agent, and (III) Granting Related Relief, attached hereto as Exhibit A (the “Jeremiassen Declaration”), and respectfully states as follows:

REPLY

1. The Objections attempt to forestall the conclusion of this case, but neither objecting party has standing or any real basis to do so. To the extent the objecting parties held stock in the Debtors prior to the Effective Date, such interests were either cancelled pursuant to the Plan (Plan § 8.6) and were not entitled to any distribution (Plan § 2.4), or are not entitled to a recovery ahead of senior creditors.

2. Additionally, on their merits, each of the arguments made in the Objections is unfounded. At base, Mr. Desai continues to raise arguments about missing assets, circumventing distribution priority, and “ignoring” prior rulings and established laws that the Court has considered and overruled on multiple occasions in the past. And, Mr. Foote asserts a similar argument regarding “hidden assets” that this Court has addressed and overruled.

3. As this Court may recall, Mr. Desai is a serial objector. Since 2013, Mr. Desai and certain family members have filed approximately sixty (60) objections or letters on the docket. To date, the Court has overruled each of Mr. Desai’s objections to the various motions filed in this case, including: (i) in 2013, when the Court overruled Mr. Desai’s objection to the Debtors’ motion seeking clarification of certain ambiguities in their confirmed chapter 11 plan [Docket No. 14592]; (ii) in 2015, when the Court approved the Trust’s motion seeking to further extend the term of the Trust and approving certain wind-down steps [Docket No. 14631]; (iii) in 2017, when the Court entered an order regarding numerous letters filed by Mr. Desai regarding the lack of distributions to shareholders and finding that there was “no basis for it to take action” [Docket No. 14670]; (iv) in 2019, when the Court so-ordered the stipulation and order approving a successor plan administrator [Docket No. 14762]; and (v) in 2020, when the Court entered an order authorizing the Debtors to pay off the Tow Note [Docket No. 14803]. Annexed hereto as Exhibit B through Exhibit F are transcripts from the relevant hearings relating to the above, if applicable (sub-clauses (i), (ii) and (iv) above), a related letter to the Court addressing certain of these matters (sub-clause (iii) above), and this Court’s order addressing a related matter (sub-clause (v) above).

4. These prior objections overlap with many of Mr. Desai’s current objections and primarily relate to his arguments that: (i) the relief sought was in circumvention of a June 17, 2008 decision by Judge Lawrence McKenna and a May 26, 2010 decision by the Second Circuit Court of Appeals; (ii) the relief sought was in violation of the so-called New York and Pennsylvania out of pocket rules; (iii) the relief sought disregarded the distribution waterfall provided for under the Plan; and (iv) there are billions of dollars of hidden assets.

5. As the Court noted at past hearings with respect to Mr. Desai’s prior objections:

[M]uch of what you have here is a repeat of objections [Mr. Desai] filed in this case numerous times, that Judge Gerber has dealt with before and that I dealt with, as well, in 2017 (See June 13, 2019 Hr’g Tr. 16:2-5); and

As to the objection, the primary objections that been provided by Mr. Desai is a repeat of objections he’s made stretching back for some time, including 2013, 2017, with his argument that it’s clear that all creditors of Adelpia have been paid what they are due. That was rejected by Judge Gerber, who had the case from its inception, and it was also rejected by me in 2017, when it was brought before me. There was no appeal of my order in 2017. That’s all law of the case, res judicata, collateral estoppel; whatever legal label you would like to put on it (See id. at 20:9-18).

For the same reasons these objections were rejected then, they should be rejected now.

Further, as if the Court’s prior rulings are not justification enough to overrule Mr. Desai’s repeated arguments, Mr. Desai’s current Objection lacks evidentiary support. Along these lines, Mr. Desai continues to ignore each of the post-confirmation status reports signed under penalty of perjury, which provide information about the steps taken to execute the Plan and existing balances of assets and liabilities. As this Court is aware, in 2025, Adelpia entered into the Tow settlement, which brought several millions of dollars into the estate. See Docket No. 14803. This money was distributed in accordance with the approved waterfall and as of March 31, 2026, just under $900,000 remained to make a final distribution and winddown the estate. See Docket No. 14881.

6. Similar to Mr. Desai, Mr. Foote also argues that there are “hidden assets.” No evidence supports this claim. To the contrary, the Debtor has demonstrated that it has less than $900,000 in remaining assets as of March 31, 2026. See Jeremiassen Declaration. Additionally, this Court has explicitly addressed this assertion in the past and found it has no merit. See June 13, 2019 Hr’g Tr. 21:18-21 (“[T]he trial made very clear what’s left in the case and the particular issues that need to be pursued, those were all explained very clear by all parties.”).

7. For the reasons set forth above, the Plan Administrator respectfully submits that the Objections should be overruled.

CONCLUSION

WHEREFORE, the Plan Administrator respectfully requests that the Court overrule the Objections and approve the Motion.

DECLARATION OF THOMAS P. JEREMIASSEN IN SUPPORT OF THE PLAN ADMINISTRATOR’S MOTION FOR (I) FINAL
DECREE CLOSING THE DEBTOR’S CHAPTER 11 CASE
CLAIMS AND NOTICING AGENT, AND (III) GRANTING RELATED RELIEF

I, Thomas P. Jeremiassen, hereby declare, pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1746, as follows:

1. Following the “Effective Date” of the First Modified Fifth Amended Joint Chapter 11 Plan for Adelphia Communications Corporation and Certain of its Affiliated Debtors (the “Plan”), a Plan Administrator (the “Plan Administrator”) was appointed as the presiding officer and the sole governor for each debtor that was jointly administered under the above-captioned case, including Adelphia Communications Corporation (the “Debtor”). On August 14, 2019, Development Specialists, Inc. (“DSI”) was appointed to serve as the successor Plan Administrator for the Debtor.

2. I am a Senior Managing Director at DSI, located at 333 S. Grand Avenue Suite 4100, Los Angeles, California 90071. I am duly authorized to make this declaration (the “Declaration”) on behalf of the Plan Administrator. Since DSI’s appointment as successor Plan Administrator, I have been consistently involved in or am familiar with the Debtor’s wind-down activities following the Effective Date of the Plan. In such capacity, I became familiar with the financial affairs of the Debtor.

3. I submit this declaration in support of the accompanying reply (the “Reply”)² of the Plan Administrator. Unless otherwise stated in this Declaration, I have personal knowledge of the facts hereinafter set forth.

4. The Debtor has filed seventy-seven post-confirmation status reports to keep this Court, creditors, and parties in interest, apprised of the Debtor’s assets and liabilities, as well as ongoing efforts in connection with consummation of the Plan.

5. As seen in the seventy-seventh post-confirmation status report (the “77th PCSR”), the remaining balance of cash held by the Debtor is less than $900,000.

6. The Debtor does not have access to any other assets besides those described in the 77th PCSR.

Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1746, I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the United States that the foregoing is true and correct.

1 We gave very broad notice of today's hearing; we gave 2 it to all equity holders and all allowed claim holders. We 3 received four objections; each was docketed twice, I believe, 4 but -- and I believe them to be identical except for the 5 claimant. And I think the objecting parties are in the 6 courtroom today.

7 But essentially, at bottom, Your Honor, what we're 8 seeking -- and I can -- I know it's Your Honor's practice to 9 review the motion. I can go through whatever level of detail 10 the Court requires.

11 THE COURT: You don't need to do it for me. I do want 12 you to say enough, so that the objectors know where you're 13 coming from, in case they might not have read your papers. So 14 hit the high points of what you said, not particularly for my 15 benefit, to tell you the truth, but so they understand where 16 you're coming from.

17 MR. SHALHOUB: Okay. I will, Your Honor. And I did 18 try to have a brief conversation with them before the 19 commencement of the hearing, but we didn't resolve anything.

20 But at a high level, Your Honor, the way the plan 21 works and is operated, it was structured as two separate pools
22 of distributable assets. The plan --

23 THE COURT: Keep that mic. close to you, please.

24 MR. SHALHOUB: I'm sorry. Sometimes I'm taller than I 25 remember, until I see --

1 THE COURT: Not a problem that I have, but I 2 understand.

3 (Laughter.)

4 MR. SHALHOUB: Well, until I see my sixteen-year-old, 5 and look up to him, so ...

6 But essentially, we're dealing with two distributable 7 pools of assets: Plan consideration and remaining asset; and 8 again, "plan consideration" being cash from the sale and Time
9 Warner stock; and then "remaining assets" being everything 10 else, other than the litigation that was contributed to the 11 CVV.

12 And the plan, if you remember, had a -- embodied a 13 global compromise that said the subsidiary debtors -- all 14 creditors of the subsidiary debtors are going to be paid in 15 full, except for certain settlement give-ups, which were given 16 to the ACC debtors --

17 THE COURT: "ACC" being the parent.

18 MR. SHALHOUB: ACC being the holding company, the 19 parent debtor.

20 And the plan said the parent debtor would distribute 21 the give-ups, as well as the cash and the common stock and 22 everything else, other than the litigation, to the holders of 23 allowed claims, which were the ACC senior notes, the ACC trade, 24 the ACC other claims, and the ACC subdebt, with the ACC subdebt
25 having to turn over their distributions to the ACC senior notes

1 as a result of the subordination provisions in their indenture.

2 THE COURT: Until the holders of the senior notes were 3 paid in full.

4 MR. SHALHOUB: Until the holders of the senior notes
5 were paid in full, that's exactly right.

6 Now the plan also said, with respect to the junior 7 classes and -- the ACC junior classes; and by that, I mean the 8 existing securities law claims at the ACC parent company, 9 preferred stock interests and common stock interests. The plan 10 said, you're not entitled to any distribution, but if you vote 11 in sufficient number and amount to accept the plan, then you 12 can receive CVV interests, and you can receive a -- can receive 13 a recovery on account of distributions by the contingent value 14 vehicle, assuming all senior classes and entitlements under the 15 CVV or the ART are also paid in full. And the ART said payment 16 in full constitutes --

17 THE COURT: And you used an acronym. "ART" stands for 18 Adelpia Recovery Trust?

19 MR. SHALHOUB: Yes, Your Honor. I apologize. "ART"
20 and "CVV," and I can stick with one or the other, if you 21 prefer, but they're one in the same.

22 THE COURT: The underlying concept being that this is 23 a trust that was set up to carry the ball in litigation, to 24 recover whatever could be recovered on behalf of Adelpia 25 stakeholders, in order of their priorities.

1 MR. SHALHOUB: That's correct, Your Honor.

2 THE COURT: All right. Continue, please.

3 MR. SHALHOUB: So in one section of the plan, section 4 -- Article 5, but Section 5.1, dealing with distributions to 5 ESLs, preferred, and equity, it speaks to not making any 6 distribution with -- of cash, stock or other, except for 7 distributions and recoveries under the contingent value
8 vehicle. In other sections of the plan, it -- and it's all 9 laid out in detail in the motion -- it speaks to making 10 distributions to equity.

11 Adelpia has very significant NOLs available that it's 12 possible --

13 THE COURT: Net operating losses. Remember, you're 14 speaking to people in the courtroom --

15 MR. SHALHOUB: Okay.

16 THE COURT: -- who don't have forty-odd years of 17 training in the law like I do.

18 MR. SHALHOUB: Thank you, Your Honor.

19 Adelpia has available to it net operating losses that 20 may be available to be offset against future income, reducing 21 tax liability. But under the tax rules and regulations that 22 exist, in order to be able to utilize the net operating losses, 23 or NOLs, it is necessary for the plan to be interpreted in such 24 a manner that equity is entitled to retain its economic 25 entitlements that existed prior to the bankruptcy filing.

1 So even though, as we read the tax law -- and we're 2 not asking the Court to interpret any tax law. As we read the 3 tax law, even though the actual instruments were canceled, as 4 long as equity has an economic entitlement consistent with its 5 pre-filing entitlements, then we believe there's an opportunity 6 to use the NOLs in a value-maximizing transaction.

7 Now, as I said, in one section of the plan, it says 8 ACC senior stakeholders, other than recoveries under the 9 contingent value vehicle, or ART, get everything. Other 10 sections of the plan say, well, equity holders can get 11 something. And I could detail it for the Court, if you'd like, 12 but it's set forth in detail; there's four or five provisions 13 in the motion that allow for a recovery to equity.

14 For example, one is, after amounts are released from 15 disputed claims reserves, it provides for a distribution to 16 allowed claims and allowed equity, in accordance with the 17 priority provisions of the plan.

18 But I think it's important to emphasize, we are trying 19 to go from a place that says equity in one section, equity 20 doesn't get anything under the plan, other than the CVV, to, 21 no, there's other places of the plan that are inconsistent with 22 that; equity can get some level of recovery, assuming the 23 senior classes are paid in full, plus interest. So don't read 24 the plan and one section of the plan as limiting or eliminating 25 distributions to equity. We're saying, actually, to the

1 objectors' point, we're not trying to siphon value from equity; 2 we're trying to broaden it to allow for -- and we think -- we 3 don't think it's likely that you ever get there, but it's 4 theoretically possible -- allow for a recovery to equity, if 5 there is sufficient value available with respect to this 6 transaction that the company hopes to be able to pursue.

7 THE COURT: Is your point being that equity should 8 welcome this motion, instead of objecting?

9 MR. SHALHOUB: That's exactly right, Your Honor.

10 THE COURT: Okay. Let me give the members of the 11 equity community a chance to be heard. Any objectors? Come on 12 up, please, sir. Come to where Mr. Shalhoub was, at the main 13 lectern. State your name slowly, so that the record will get 14 it down, and then let me hear what you have to say.

15 MR. MAPIN DESAI: I am Mapin Desai. I'm an individual

17 THE COURT: That was Desai --

18 MR. MAPIN DESAI: Yes.

19 THE COURT: -- D-e-s-a-i.

20 MR. MAPIN DESAI: Yes, that's correct.

21 THE COURT: Yes, I have your objection. Thank you.

22 MR. MAPIN DESAI: I'm an --

23 THE COURT: Keep the microphone close to you, please, 24 sir.

25 MR. MAPIN DESAI: I'm an individual investor in

8

1 Adelphia, preferred and common stock. And the reason I
2 objected to this motion is, for six years, you know, this plan
3 is under execution. And now, all of a sudden, there is a 4 radical new interpretation.

5 And the reason -- the motion says there is ambiguities
6 in the plan. When I hear the word "ambiguities," I think there 7 is two possibilities, you know. But the -- I don't see two 8 possibilities here; I just see one possibility being presented, 9 and that says the senior stakeholders get interest paid.

10 And what I'm saying here, right now, is just 11 summarizing what has transpired over ten years of litigation.
12 I'm not inventing anything new. And so what I'm going to say 13 is the plan, to me, unambiguously explained absolute priority
14 by waterfall methodology. And that said that, as the payment 15 comes, it goes down to -- let's just keep it simple -- to ACC-16 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, and there is nine tiers.

17 Now, obviously, nobody had any problem understanding 18 how the waterfall methodology worked as it went down from 1 19 through 5. Now when it's time for more water to fall in this 20 waterfall, the question is: Would it fall down to 6, 7, 8, 9, 21 or would it miraculously reverse and go back up to ACC-1, and 22 overflow those tiers, which are already full.

23 THE COURT: Pause, please, Mr. Desai.

24 Do you understand that the thrust of Adelphia's motion 25 and the clarification they're looking for is to help folks like

1 you, and to make it clearer that, in the unlikely event that 2 there is enough value, that you have a better chance of getting 3 it?

4 MR. MAPIN DESAI: I don't see it that way, Your Honor, 5 because, if -- if they pay interest to the senior stakeholders, 6 which is like -- I read your views. You consider interest to 7 be like -- something like profit. And in a bankruptcy 8 proceeding, everyone should get their out-of-pocket loss before 9 anybody profits from this tragic bankruptcy. So if there is 10 payment of interest, like --

11 THE COURT: So -- and you said something very similar 12 to this, or perhaps identical to this, in your objection.
13 You're troubled by the fact that bondholders can get interest 14 before stockholders can get paid, or can get a distribution on 15 their stock.

16 MR. MAPIN DESAI: Yes, because the -- everyone needs 17 to get their principal, out-of-pocket loss before we can profit 18 somebody -- constituents can profit from the process.

19 THE COURT: Okay. I understand. Anything else?

20 MR. MAPIN DESAI: Yes. I have several other points.
21 Then -- let's see. There -- it has been stated twice in court 22 rulings that the senior stakeholders have been paid in full.
23 One was by Honorable Judge Lawrence McKenna in Southern 24 District Court, when he did settlement with the banks. He said 25 that the senior stakeholders have been paid in full, and that

1 is why he limited the amount of the settlement amount, you
2 know. Because I believe the senior stakeholders wanted four 3 point -- $4 billion or something. And Judge McKenna, who is no
4 longer on the bench now, settled it for like $250 million. So, 5 to me, that means that they have been paid in full.

6 And the other is the 510(b) order that was issued by 7 the Court. That also said that the senior stakeholders have 8 been paid in full. So, to me, paying somebody way over what 9 they have been paid in full, as stated by bankruptcy order 10 510(b), and U.S. Southern District court order, while the other 11 constituents do not get even their out-of-pocket loss, is not 12 acceptable to -- you know, would not be fair to the junior 13 stakeholders.

14 And see, I'm just one person who owns the stocks, but 15 there are -- there may be thousands of people, you know, who 16 did not have time, money, or, you know, the interest to follow 17 up this proceeding, you know, for ten years. So I mean, if 18 they understood where I was coming from, they would be in 19 agreement with me, you know.

20 THE COURT: Okay. Thank you.

21 Okay. Mr. Shalhoub, any desire to reply?

22 MR. SHALHOUB: Very briefly, Your Honor.

23 THE COURT: Yes. Come on up, please.

24 MR. SHALHOUB: Thank you, Your Honor. Just very 25 briefly on the interest point.

1 Again, for -- I start from a provision of the plan, or 2 at least one provision of the plan that says the ACC senior 3 stakeholders, as we define them -- so everyone above existing 4 securities law claims, preferred stock interests, and common
5 stock interests -- get everything remaining. It doesn't speak 6 to paying interest to those parties because it says you get 7 everything.

8 We're actually saying, don't give them everything, pay 9 them the principal amount of their claim, pay them their 10 prepetition interest, and then pay them post-petition interest 11 until they've received payment in full. And we're saying, with 12 respect to the rates to be used, what's the right benchmark for 13 that.

14 Well, let's look to the contingent value vehicle, 15 which, at the time of confirmation, was the vehicle where the 16 parties involved thought there may be a possibility of recovery
17 to equity. And we've adopted those interest rates for purposes 18 of determining the appropriate interest rate to the ACC senior 19 stakeholders. And when we determined that it was appropriate 20 when we were cutting back from what -- how you can read the 21 plan in one respect to make unlimited distributions to the ACC 22 senior stakeholders, we're saying, well, wait a minute, that 23 really would be violative if you look at the policy behind the 24 Bankruptcy Code. It would be violative of the absolute 25 priority rule. And we had no rejecting classes, but we used

1 that as a plan interpretative tool.

2 And it would be violative of, in some respect -- well, 3 it would be - the best interest test supports two things with 4 respect to interest:

5 One, it supports an interest rate at whatever the 6 Court would determine is an appropriate legal rate. And I know 7 there's a lot of case law out there, and I know Your Honor has 8 views on it.

9 But two, it also supports a distribution to equity 10 because equity holders are entitled to receive no less than 11 they would have received in a Chapter 7 liquidation. So after 12 you pay in a Chapter 7 all allowed claims, and you pay interest 13 on those allowed claims at whatever the appropriate legal rate 14 is, there is -- the remaining goes to equity.

15 So just, again, on the interest point, we're not 16 looking to expand the rights of the senior holders here; we're 17 looking to contract them in a manner that preserves, 18 potentially -- again, I'll use the term "value-maximizing 19 transaction" -- a value-maximizing transaction, while at the 20 same time not providing unlimited distributions to the senior 21 classes.

22 THE COURT: Okay. Thank you. All right. Everybody, 23 forgive me for a second. Has everybody who had wanted to be 24 heard had a first chance to be heard? Okay.

25 Ladies and gentlemen, I am granting the debtors'

1 motion and the following are my conclusions of law and, to the 2 extent applicable, the bases for the exercise of my discretion:

3 By this motion, the Adelphia Debtors seek to clarify, 4 but not change the previously provided for plan to make it 5 clearer that equity holders would have the value, if any, that 6 might exist at the bottom ends of the waterfall. The motion is 7 actually one that equity holders should welcome because, while 8 the chances of there being enough value to really put money 9 into their pockets are quite small, the requested motion 10 enhances their ability to get whatever there might ultimately 11 be.

12 The concerns that are articulated by the equity 13 holders community, while understandable from their perspective, 14 are not, strictly speaking, impacted by this motion. But if 15 they were, they would be lacking in merit.

16 As a matter of bankruptcy law, when an estate is 17 insolvent; that is, when it doesn't have enough to pay its 18 creditors, before it gets to its stockholders, the creditors 19 can't receive post-petition interest, and they can receive 20 prepetition interest only to the extent that there are assets
21 sufficient to pay it. When an estate is solvent, creditors 22 have to be paid their full contractual entitlement before 23 stockholders can be paid, and that contractual entitlement may 24 and very often does include post-petition interest.

25 Now the stockholders' principal concern here is the 1 payment of interest to creditors before stockholders get 2 anything. But unfortunately, that's the nature of things in 3 bankruptcy. Companies have to pay their debts before they can 4 make distributions to their stockholders; what we call in 5 bankruptcy "equity."

6 And for all of those reasons, I necessarily must and 7 do grant Adelpia's motion.

8 The debtors are to settle an order in accordance with 9 this ruling. Settling an order doesn't mean settlement; it 10 means serving a copy of the proposed order on the parties who 11 have objected, to give them the opportunity to argue to me, if 12 they wish, that the order doesn't fairly and fully memorialize 13 and implement my ruling.

14 The objecting parties, Mr. Desai -- and I think there 15 were a couple of others, but I don't know their names -- will 16 have the time provided in the notice of settlement, which, 17 given the fact that you don't have lawyers, Mr. Shalhoub, 18 should be one calendar week instead of the two days that's 19 provided for under the local rules. And they may, if they 20 wish, show me a different order, or present to me a different 21 order for my consideration, if any believes that the different 22 order would more fairly implement my ruling.

23 The time to appeal from this ruling will run from the 24 time of the entry of the resulting order and not from the time 25 of the dictated decision.

1 Now not by way of reargument, does -- do we have any 2 further business today in Adelphia?

3 MR. SHALHOUB: No, Your Honor.

4 THE COURT: Very well. Mr. Desai, do you want to be 5 heard? Come up to a microphone, please, and I'll hear you.

6 (Pause in proceedings.)

7 MR. MAPIN DESAI: Your Honor, in a bankruptcy 8 proceeding, the interest rate is capped as per the -- some 9 bankruptcy rate, .2 percent or something. But the motion 10 proposes eight percent interest. So if the interest is going 11 to be paid, it should be at the bankruptcy interest rate, and 12 not the eight percent rate --

13 THE COURT: Mr. Desai, in substance, you're rearguing 14 the motion. The -- which is what you shouldn't be doing.

15 There is no such thing as a "bankruptcy rate." The 16 Court fixes the rate. The rate is normally fixed by contract; 17 and, when it is not fixed by contract, it is fixed by the 18 Court, in its discretion, based on what it considers to be an 19 appropriate interest rate.

20 The eight percent is the same interest rate that I 21 previously approved for trade claims, and perhaps for other 22 claims, where the rate was not fixed by contract. I have 23 considered that issue, and that is not a ground for objection.
24 So necessarily, I must overrule your objection in that regard.

25 MR. MAPIN DESAI: Okay.

1 THE COURT: Okay. Thank you.
2 All right. Everybody who is here on Adelphia is 3 excused.

1 (Proceedings commence at 9:47 a.m.)
2 THE COURT: Adelphia. Mr. Harwood.
3 MR. HARWOOD: Yes, Your Honor.
4 THE COURT: Good morning.
5 MR. HARWOOD: Do you want the Desais to come up now or 6 -- 7 THE COURT: I beg your pardon?
8 MR. HARWOOD: We have the two objections. The 9 objecting --
10 THE COURT: Yes, those who are objecting, come up, 11 please.
12 All right. I know Mr. Harwood from his prior 13 appearances in the Adelphia case. Let me get appearances by 14 the two objectors, please?
15 MR. MAPIN DESAI: I'm Mapin Desai --
16 THE COURT: Would you come to a microphone, please?
17 MR. MAPIN DESAI: Mapin Desai.
18 THE COURT: Okay.
19 MS. HINA DESAI: I'm Hina Desai.
20 THE COURT: Desai. Okay.
21 MR. HARWOOD: Your Honor may recall, the Desais were 22 present back in 2013, on an earlier motion regarding the plan 23 Mr. Shaloub presented.
24 THE COURT: Yes. All right. Mr. Harwood, I'll hear 25 you first, but I have a couple of preliminary remarks.

1 This is a fairly plain-vanilla application to continue
2 the duration of the Adelphia Recovery Trust because, as I
3 understand it, the Recovery Trust needs to have continued 4 existence to pursue its appeal of what is now the judgment of 5 the District Court, adopting my recommendations on the Florida
6 Power & Light fraudulent conveyance action, which I won't 7 surprise anybody by saying I think I got it right, but that the 8 trust is entitled to ordinary appellate review.
9 And I have some difficulty understanding why it 10 shouldn't have the ability to pursue its appellate rights, as 11 against the possibility that I might have been wrong, and the 12 District Court might have been wrong.
13 I'll hear first from you, Mr. Harwood. But of course, 14 my principal concern or need is to hear from Mr. Desai as to 15 why we should shut the courthouse door. Let me hear from you 16 first, Mr. Harwood.
17 MR. HARWOOD: Your Honor, just to be clear, would you 18 like me to sort of split the two requests for relief, and just 19 deal with the extension of the trust now? We also have the 20 issue on cancellation of the junior CVV interests. I can put 21 it all together, however Your Honor wants.
22 THE COURT: Frankly, I'm more prepared on one than the 23 other, so you better address them both, Mr. Harwood.
24 MR. HARWOOD: Very good.
25 So, yes, Your Honor, as I said, there's two forms of 4

1 relief we seek here. There's the extension of the trust
2 through and including December 31st, 2016, to go to the next 3 calendar year, in order to complete that last item of 4 significant litigation, the FPL claim. And the second is the 5 cancellation of the CVV interests, the junior CVV interests.

6 THE COURT: The cancellation of the junior interests.

7 MR. MAPIN DESAI: Yes.

8 THE COURT: The out-of-the-money interests in the 9 trust.

10 MR. HARWOOD: Correct, correct.

11 THE COURT: And let's turn to the latter one first.

12 MR. HARWOOD: Okay.

13 THE COURT: Because I'm not aware of there being an 14 objection to that.

15 MR. HARWOOD: I think, largely, there is not, unless 16 it's subsumed in the Desais' concerns, but it's not entirely 17 clear. So I'll turn to that first, Your Honor.

18 As Your Honor knows, the plan provides for a rather 19 complicated waterfall process for the distribution of funds 20 that are recovered by the trust or monetized by the plan 21 administrator on that side, on the estate side. And under that 22 plan, the first $230 million recovered were divided half and 23 half, between the Government's claim for distribution that 24 actually has been distributed to equity holders, and then the 25 other half to the most senior of the creditors.

1 Then, under the plan, the next $374 million recovered
2 would go in a waterfall, including the senior-most creditors:
3 The Arahova, the Olympus, the Frontier Vision, senior 4 bondholders, and certain of the bank credit -- bank debt, as 5 well, through the -- what's referred to as the "ACC 3 Level," 6 so one, two, and three; all of whom are senior bank or bond 7 lenders, who are all, to some extent, in the money.

8 And there's a percentage ranging from 45 percent to 9 the most senior, down to less than one percent to certain of 10 the most junior of those senior class of creditors.

11 After that, the next 500 million, I think, the most 12 senior of those would be eliminated, but the next 500 million 13 goes to many of the same claimants, just in a different level 14 of percentages distribution. We are partway through that, the 15 first 374 million, and have not even reached the next 500 16 million.

17 After that, the next --

18 THE COURT: Pause, please, Mr. Harwood.

19 MR. HARWOOD: Sure.

20 THE COURT: Because I kind of lost you.

21 MR. HARWOOD: Sure.

22 THE COURT: A lot of this happened after I had -- no 23 longer had day-to-day contact with the case. But it was my 24 impression that all of the creditors and operating companies 25 were paid in full, that we were now at the Adelphia Parent

1 Level, and that creditors of the Adelphia Parent had gotten 2 well in excess of 80 percent on their claims, that were senior 3 unsecured. Was I mistaken in that understanding?

4 MR. HARWOOD: I think you might have been mistaken,
5 Your Honor. They were deemed to have been -- to have received 6 that amount, based on their distribution of the CVV interests, 7 depending on what the value of those -- the CVV and the 8 contingent value vehicle, what the value of those would be 9 going forward.

10 All of the trade creditors, all of the most senior 11 creditors, were in full, in advance. And the -- under the 12 plan, the most senior of the creditors -- like Arahova gets 45
13 percent of any distributions, up to the first 800 million, I 14 believe it is. And then Olympus gets twenty-something percent, 15 Frontier Vision gets much less, and then there's other senior 16 bank creditors that get less, so ...

17 THE COURT: Are you saying that, because of an 18 inability to recover as much as might have been hoped on those 19 recovery trust interests, those with interest in the recovery 20 trust would not have received as much as I had assumed they 21 would receive?

22 MR. HARWOOD: I believe that's correct, Your Honor.
23 As you know, we ended up settling the bank litigation for a 24 substantial amount. We settled the claims against Buchanan 25 Ingersoll, the outside counsel for the company, and we've

7

1 settled some other, lesser claims, as well. And as you know,
2 we were unsuccessful in the Goldman claim and the Prestige
3 claim, and so far in the FPL claim.

4 So the -- until we get to the point of as much as $4.9 5 billion, even before we get to interest, just in face amount, 6 the senior creditors will not be paid in full, and that's 7 really the genesis of the motion.

8 Until the Goldman and Prestige claims were terminated 9 unsuccessfully, there was still an arithmetical possibility 10 that we could pay all of those senior creditors in full because 11 the claim was for the full value of the destruction of the 12 company. So, if we recovered that from the banks; from 13 Goldman, from Prestige, hypothetically and arithmetically, we 14 could have gotten to the full $4.9 million of face amount. If 15 it had happened early enough, the amount that the post-petition 16 interest that the plan allowed might not have been as much as 17 it is today, which would bring that amount to 5.7 billion.

18 Clearly, arithmetically, we're never going to get 19 there. If we were to hit a home run in FPL, and somehow the 20 Second Circuit were to disagree with Your Honor and Judge 21 Caproni, and we were to get all interest, even at the state 22 rate, you know, at most, that would be in the two-hundred-and-23 fifty-to-three-hundred-million-dollar range. So we're never 24 going to get to the point where we'd even fully pay the most 25 senior creditors. And until -- as I say, until that happened -

8

1 - or I -- let me back up a moment.
2 When the CVV was created, based on SEC rules in 3 existence at the time, because of the number of CVV interests - 4 - so the number of claimants in the class and the type of class
5 -- under the SEC, the CVV was required to be a public reporting 6 entity because these claims did trade, albeit on the pink 7 sheets.

8 THE COURT: And registered under the '34 Act?

10 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

11 MR. HARWOOD: Since that time, however, the rules have 12 changed. And if we were being created now, we wouldn't have 13 had to do this registration. But those rules are not 14 retroactive, so those obligations still exist.

15 Now that it's clear that the parties that have -- that 16 created the SEC obligations and the '34 Act obligations are so 17 clearly out of the money, the expense that we incur each year 18 for the SEC filing is really unnecessary. We spend 19 approximately $100,000 a year on legal expenses, administrative 20 expenses, audited financials, that we wouldn't have to do, to 21 that extent, if we weren't filing. There's two --

22 THE COURT: You said a hundred thousand bucks a year?

23 MR. HARWOOD: Yes.

24 THE COURT: And this is like for 10-Ks and 10-Qs?

25 MR. HARWOOD: 10-Ks and 10-Qs, and any intermediate

1 K's, in case of important matters, as well, plus the audited 2 financials that we have to do under GAAP financing. We do our 3 own financials anyway, but we wouldn't have to do them audited, 4 if we didn't have the SEC filing obligations.

5 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

6 MR. HARWOOD: And there's two other benefits, Your 7 Honor, that come out of that, that we mention in the papers:
8 Counter-intuitively, these most-junior CVV interests 9 continue to trade on the pink sheets; a very small amount, 10 maybe one percent a year, but they do still trade at maybe 11 three cents on the dollar. We're not entirely sure why.

12 There's two reasons:

13 It may just be that some people just don't understand.
14 Even though the K's and the Q's make it clear that they're 15 completely out of the money, people may think that there's 16 still some value.

17 The other possibility -- and we get this from calls 18 that come into the hot line that we continue to maintain, for 19 both senior and junior creditors -- is that parties who hold 20 those CVV interests cannot take the tax loss until it's 21 absolutely clear that they are worthless, or that a value -- a 22 final value is placed on them.

23 So it may be that certain of these people -- and this 24 is what some tell us on the phone, is I'll sell it at two 25 cents, just so I can monetize my loss, take my tax loss, and

10

1 declare it on my taxes this year --

2 THE COURT: I can see why somebody would want to do
3 that. What I have more difficulty seeing is why some poor 4 sucker would pay the two cents for it.

5 MR. HARWOOD: And we don't understand that, either, 6 Your Honor, which is why, from both sides, we think, from our 7 fiduciary obligation and our public service obligation, is that 8 it's in the best interest of everyone to cancel them now, so 9 that that trading can stop.

10 THE COURT: Uh-huh. So, if I give you the ruling, 11 those who still hold the interests, that are out of the money, 12 could take the bad -- could take the write-off, without 13 penalizing some other poor sucker to buy them.

14 MR. HARWOOD: That's exactly right, Your Honor.

15 THE COURT: Okay.

16 MR. HARWOOD: Now, to be completely candid with the 17 Court, there is a process by which we could do it without the 18 Court's order. But the cost, expense, and time involved in 19 that would almost be as much as it would be to continue to 20 file.

21 In addition, it really benefits us, in terms of the 22 staged wind-down of the trust. Once the FPL litigation is 23 done, the trust will then act as quickly as possible to shut 24 down its operations. If it then has to go through the 25 procedural process of filing with the SEC to cancel those

1 interests, that will delay the process and add to the costs.
2 If we can get an order now, directing us to cancel them now, in 3 effect, extending the trust only as to those that are still in 4 the money, we can go to the SEC, cancel them now, and the 5 obligation, and the risk of improper trading or -- I'm not 6 saying bad faith, just ill-informed trading in these securities 7 -- and allow those who have a monetary desire to monetize that 8 tax interest to do so now.

9 So that's why we're asking for that relief, at this 10 point. Really, we waited until -- we probably could have done 11 it a year ago, but we really wanted to wait until it was 12 arithmetically certain that there is no way we're going to get 13 to those junior interests. So that's the second half of the 14 relief, Your Honor.

15 The first half, I think Your Honor put it clearly. We 16 had a fiduciary obligation to, at least through the Second 17 Circuit, bring this to an end. Although both Your Honor and 18 Judge Caproni ruled against us, you did both indicate that 19 there were aspects of our arguments that had some merit, 20 although they were outweighed by the other side.

21 And we believe, because of the size of the claim and 22 the amount involved, that it's a -- we have a fiduciary 23 interest and a good faith basis to at least pursue this --

24 THE COURT: What's the status of the FPL Second 25 Circuit appeal?

1 MR. HARWOOD: Our briefs have been filed; FPL's briefs
2 are due October 14th, and then we have two weeks for a reply 3 brief. So October 28th will be the final briefing, at which 4 point we'll find out from the circuit when argument is 5 scheduled. I would imagine it would be by February of 2016.
6 That's why we went to December 31st.

7 As Your Honor could surmise, there's three possible
8 outcomes: One is a full affirmance, and the case is over; one 9 is a full reversal, and then we see if we can resolve it 10 without any further appeals. And the third, which could 11 happen, I suppose, would be a remand for the fact-finding, 12 which would require more time. Your Honor can decide the 13 unlikely -- your own view as to the likelihood of that.

14 But in any event, we thought December 31st was an 15 appropriate time because, if the appeal is resolved by, say, 16 summer or fall, that would give us enough time to shut down 17 operations by the end of the year.

18 THE COURT: Uh-huh. Okay. Let me hear from Mr.
19 Desai.

20 MR. HARWOOD: Thank you, Your Honor.

21 MR. MAPIN DESAI: Honorable Judge Gerber, I have 22 several objections to the wind-down steps of the motion.

23 I object because this motion circumvents the June 2008 24 ruling of U.S. District Court. In Exhibit A, I have shown the 25 -- Judge McKenna rejected Adelphia creditor claims, and he said

1 that the creditors have been paid what they are due. And I
2 quote Judge McKenna:

3 "It is clear from the joint plan's provisions that all 4 the creditors of the obligor debtors have been paid in 5 full."

6 The use of the word "clear," in hindsight, is quite 7 prescient, meant to put an end to all argument over this issue.
8 Now, for this motion to claim additional $5.8 billion would be 9 circumventing clear District Court ruling.

10 THE COURT: Pause, please, Mr. Desai. Because what 11 you said, both in writing and then orally, confuses me. I 12 thought you were objecting to the continued duration of the 13 trust. Are you actually saying you're okay with the continued 14 duration of the trust, but you object to the prong of the 15 trust's motion to, in essence, declare things hopeless for the 16 junior classes?

17 MR. MAPIN DESAI: I am objecting to the wind-down 18 steps that I --

19 THE COURT: Which wind-down steps?

20 MR. MAPIN DESAI: The wind -- in the motion, it is -- 21 somewhere, it says that they -- the creditors need to get 22 additional $5.8 billion, over and above what Judge McKenna 23 ruled was payment in full, and paid what they're due. So my 24 objection is for that statement. And this statement would 25 circumvent clear District Court ruling for this case. I -- I

1 don't think this is time for litigation; I think this is time
2 for accepting the U.S. District Court ruling and following it.
3 THE COURT: What do you understand to be the basis for 4 Judge McKenna's conclusion that creditors were paid in full?
5 Mr. Harwood has pointed out a distinction between some kind of 6 valuation, based upon what was the perceived value of units in 7 the trust, and says that whatever the perceived value may have 8 been, because of the failure to collect in these various 9 litigations, the senior classes haven't been paid. Now the 10 senior classes' failure to have gotten back green money for 11 what they invested seems to be fairly verifiable, objectively.
12 MR. MAPIN DESAI: Yes. I am quoting Judge McKenna, 13 and I'll read his ruling:
14 "It is clear from the joint plan's provisions that all 15 the creditors of the obligor debtors have been paid in 16 full."
17 The creditors have been paid what they are due. So 18 what was clear back then, after seven years, is not that clear.
19 And supposedly, additional fight with $5.8 billion are due over 20 and above. So, to me, that will be circumventing June 2008
21 U.S. District Court ruling.
22 THE COURT: Let's assume, Mr. Desai, that the 23 creditors had been paid in full, as Judge McKenna had 24 concluded. What is the corollary; what is the legal conclusion 25 that you draw from that?

1 MR. MAPIN DESAI: See, I am just stating my objections 2 that are for somebody to claim $5.8 billion over and above what 3 they're due is circumventing clear District Court ruling.
4 THE COURT: All right.
5 MR. MAPIN DESAI: That is my objection.
6 THE COURT: Okay. And anything else before I give Mr.
7 Harwood a chance to reply?
8 MR. MAPIN DESAI: I have several objections; several 9 more objections. I object because this motion violates the New 10 York out-of-pocket rule by claiming over $5 billion in 11 interest. Please see Exhibit B, which shows May 15, 2006 12 opinion rendered by Honorable Robert Gerber.
13 THE COURT: That's me.
15 THE COURT: Okay.
16 MR. MAPIN DESAI: According to this meticulously 17 reasoned opinion, payment of over $5 billion in interest would 18 be in violation of New York out-of-pocket rule.
19 I object because this motion also violates 20 Pennsylvania out-of-pocket rule by claiming over $5 billion in 21 interest. Once again, referring to your meticulously reasoned 22 opinion, payment of $5 billion -- over $5 billion of -- in 23 interest would be in violation of Pennsylvania out-of-pocket 24 rule.
25 I object because this motion relies on false

1 conclusions from the ART distribution waterfall chart. Exhibit
2 C shows ART distribution waterfall chart, as of June 30, 2015, 3 which is the most current ART distribution chart, and it shows 4 a total amount due to all senior creditors is $5,767,000,000.

5 Now, for this motion to justify senior creditors'
6 claim of $5.8 billion, in addition to more than $4.9 billion 7 they already received, the ART waterfall chart would need to be 8 radically altered from 5,767,000,000 to well over 9 10,700,000,000. Such radical alteration of waterfall, after 10 more than seven years, could be construed as serious mischief 11 by U.S. District Court.

12 I object to the paradigm of this motion that court 13 ruling and Bankruptcy Courts are not relevant to this case 14 because it is complex, negotiated, or highly negotiated.
15 According to Mr. Clifford White, Director of U.S. Trustee's
16 Program, in his recent article, 2014 article, said that court 17 rulings and Bankruptcy Courts cannot be negotiated away with 18 consent -- even with consent.

19 I object to the discussion of the motion about tax 20 loss and trading commission. Bankruptcy Court is not the right 21 forum for discussing tax loss or how to save on trading 22 commissions.

23 And I object to the motion's request to stop public 24 reporting. Without public reporting, behind closed doors, 25 circumventing of court rulings, violation of bankruptcy laws,

1 alteration of waterfall, and negotiating over Bankruptcy Court,
2 smuggling or fraud could go undetected or unchallenged.

3 So, for the above stated objections, I respectfully 4 request that the wind-down steps of the motion be denied.

5 THE COURT: Okay. Thank you.

6 Mr. Harwood, I'll take reply.

7 MR. HARWOOD: Very briefly, Your Honor.

8 And two years ago, when Mr. Shaloub was here with a 9 motion to set interest, the Desais raised a similar issue on 10 the interest issue. And Your Honor clearly and patiently 11 explained to the Desais that, under the Bankruptcy Code, post-12 petition interest typically is not allowed until creditors are 13 paid in full.

14 And under the plan, the creditors do not get any post-15 petition interest here, until they're paid in full, which was 16 the $4.9 billion --

17 THE COURT: Unsecureds don't. The secureds --

18 MR. HARWOOD: Correct.

19 THE COURT: -- who were at lower levels, were fully 20 secured; and, therefore, they got paid post-petition until they 21 were paid off.

22 MR. HARWOOD: Correct. And that was out of the Time 23 Warner/Comcast sale.

24 THE COURT: Uh-huh.

25 MR. HARWOOD: So, under the plan, and even as it's 1 drafted now, the 4.9 billion would have to be paid first, 2 before we get to the interest. And that's in the plan that was 3 approved by the Court years ago, and Your Honor established 4 what was an appropriate interest rate for post-petition. So 5 that's clear, and Your Honor made that clear two years ago, and 6 I think that that still stands today.

7 The issue that he raises about Judge McKenna, just to 8 be clear, is: When Judge McKenna was saying that the creditors 9 of the obligor debtors have been paid in full, that was in 10 connection with the intra-party claims because the claims we 11 brought against the banks, Judge McKenna determined were claims 12 belonging to the subsidiary debtors, to the -- to the Arahova 13 entity or to the Century entity or those.

14 And he said that, under the Adelpia Paradigm, and 15 under the settlement that Your Honor approved as part of the 16 plan, those intra-party claims or intercompany claims were 17 resolved in full. But the $4.9 billion is at the ACC parent 18 level, and that's --

19 THE COURT: And that comes full circle to what you had 20 talked about when I asked you the questions. The people at the 21 operating company levels were paid in full, but those at the 22 very top, at Adelpia Parent, remained unpaid, and that was the 23 point you explained to me.

24 MR. HARWOOD: Yes, Your Honor.

25 THE COURT: I understand.

1 MR. HARWOOD: And that's the issue that perhaps Mr.
2 Desai didn't quite understand from Judge McKenna's ruling.

3 And the final point, which we do take to heart, in 4 terms of public reporting and public disclosure, under the 5 plan, under Section 3.11(a), we have an obligation to 6 periodically report on the finances of the entity. Even as to 7 the out-of-the-money people, who no longer have an interest, we 8 still feel that we should keep reporting, so that people have 9 that, the sunlight as a disinfectant, if you will.

10 And we do intend to continue to report at least 11 quarterly. We maintain the public website with our financial 12 information, and continue to do that, as well, just at a much 13 lower cost than we would have to under these --

14 THE COURT: Let me rephrase that and make sure that 15 we're all on the same page. You're not saying that you're 16 going to do things in secrecy. You're simply saying that 17 you're no longer going to use the '34 Act as the means to 18 communicate.

19 MR. HARWOOD: That is correct, Your Honor. And we 20 hope to disclose as much financial information as we did 21 before, just in a different form, at a much lower expense.

22 THE COURT: Okay. Anything else?

23 MR. HARWOOD: That's it, Your Honor. Thank you.

24 THE COURT: All right. Folks, I'm now in a position
25 to rule, and I'm approving both prongs of the trust's motions.

1 The reason for keeping the trust in existence is 2 obvious. Although, once again, I believe I got it right, and 3 Judge Caproni, in approving my findings, got it right, the 4 trust is entitled to its day in court and the ability to 5 convince the Second Circuit otherwise. And if I were to pull 6 the plug on the existence of the trust, that would effectively 7 close the courthouse door to the trust, and I don't see that as 8 appropriate.

9 Vis-a-vis the measures to, in essence, say that the 10 junior classes are now hopelessly out of the money, and that 11 there is no good reason for throwing more money out on the '34 12 Act obligations, the trust has made an overwhelming showing of 13 that character, too.

14 Frankly, I'm uncomfortable with the notion of 15 continued trading in out-of-the-money trust units because 16 whoever has the misfortune of buying them is, in effect, going 17 to be spending money on stuff that they have no business buying 18 in the first place. And the needs and concerns of the holders 19 of out-of-the-money units can be more effectively dealt with by 20 other means.

21 I think Mr. Desai does misconstrue the rulings of the 22 District Court, which, of course, were in a separate adversary
23 proceeding, Adelphia v. Bank of America. The operating company 24 creditors were paid in full, but those of the parent, Adelphia 25 Communications Corporation, have, without dispute, not been

1 paid in full.

2 That was the whole purpose of the Recovery Trust: To 3 bring in more money, so they could be paid in full. And the 4 Recovery Trust had only partial success. The Recovery Trust 5 did not win everything that it had hoped to win, and that's the 6 harsh reality of the circumstance.

7 The Recovery Trust is not looking to hide the ball.
8 It's not looking to do things in secret. The Recovery Trust is 9 not attempting to do anything undetected. It is merely looking 10 for my green light to discontinue '34 Act reporting.

11 The '34 Act -- which is technically called the 12 "Securities and Exchange Act of 1934" -- requires companies 13 with publicly traded securities to make disclosures, most 14 commonly in Form 10-K, which is an annually report, and Form 15 10-Q, which is a quarterly report, and Form 8-K, which is kind 16 of an episode or event report; all of which is very expensive.
17 There is no good reason for continuing that.

18 So, in the exercise of my discretion, and in material 19 part because the premises under which the objection was filed 20 are mistaken, I'm approving the trust's motions in both 21 respects.

22 And Mr. Harwood, I'm going to ask that you settle an 23 order consistent with this ruling at your earliest convenience.

24 MR. HARWOOD: We will do so, Your Honor. Thank you.

25 THE COURT: Okay. Do we have anything further?

1 MR. HARWOOD: Nothing on Adelphia, Your Honor.
2 THE COURT: Okay. Thank you very much. Have a good 3 day.
4 MR. HARWOOD: Thank you, Your Honor.

UNITED STATES BANKRUPTCY COURT SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF NEW YORK

IN RE: . Chapter 11

1 (Proceedings commence at 9:59 a.m.)
2 THE COURT: Good morning. Please be seated. I
3 have a variety of matters on for this morning. Several folks 4 have asked us this morning to take them out of order because 5 they're in front of a judge -- another judge in this 6 building. Obviously, the more notice we have of that kind of 7 a request, the better, so I've done what I can to address 8 that. So, with that, there may be some slight variations to 9 the order that's on the schedule.
10 So the first case is Adelphia Communications 11 Corporation.
12 MR. MCCALLEN: Good morning, Your Honor. Benjamin 13 McCallen, Willkie, Farr & Gallagher, on behalf of the plan
14 administrator.
15 MR. WAISNOR: Jon Waisnor at Willkie, Farr &
16 Gallagher on behalf of the plan administrator.
17 MR. DESAI: Mapin Desai, objecting to the motion.
18 MR. TECCE: Good morning, Your Honor. James Tecce
19 of Quinn Emanuel, on behalf of Solus Alternative Asset
20 Management and the ACC Claims Holding, LLC.
21 THE COURT: All right. And if -- we need to make 22 sure to get you on a microphone, so you can be heard or -- 23 otherwise, I have my concerns, it won't show up.
24 MR. HARWOOD: Good morning. Michael Harwood for 25 the Adelphia Recovery Trust.

1 THE COURT: All right. Good morning.

2 So we are on for a settlement, and so -- of a
3 dispute between Solus Alternative Asset Management and ACC
4 Claims Holding and these folks. So maybe you can just walk 5 through the general, sort of two-minute summary of how we got 6 here.

7 MR. WAISNOR: Sure, Your Honor. This is, again, 8 Jonathan Waisnor, representing Quest, as Plan Administrator
9 of Adelphia. Can I --

10 THE COURT: Anywhere, here or there --

11 MR. WAISNOR: Great.

12 THE COURT: -- whatever works for you. As long as 13 you have a microphone in front of you, you'll get picked up, 14 so ...

15 MR. WAISNOR: So we are here today seeking approval
16 of a settlement of a motion by Solus and ACC Claims Holdings, 17 to remove the plan administrator, the second amendment to the 18 plan administrator agreement, and appointment of a successor 19 plan administrator.

20 With the Court's permission, I would like to speak 21 briefly regarding the background that led us to the 22 settlement, why we believe this settlement should be approved 23 and the sole objection before Your Honor should be overruled.

24 This litigation began almost 18 months ago. Solus
25 filed its motion in February 2018. We read the terms of a

1 proposed settlement into the record in March 2018. The 2 parties attempted to formalize that settlement. As Your 3 Honor heard at trial, there were aggressive and sometimes 4 contentious negotiations between the parties regarding the 5 best path forward for these estates. The March 2018
6 settlement did not go forward, and we were unable to reach a 7 negotiated resolution at that time.

8 The movants here filed an amended motion in June 9 2018. Quest and movants litigated extensively over the 10 course of the summer, producing documents and taking five 11 depositions, and into the fall with briefing before Your 12 Honor. We also had settlement negotiations throughout that 13 time period, with the assistance of the trustees and their 14 counsel, but we were unable to reach agreement before trial.

15 We then had two trial days in October before Your 16 Honor, on October 15th and October 25th. This Court heard 17 extensive evidence of Quest's activities since the effective 18 date, the parties' views of what was required of Quest under 19 the plan administrator agreement, the background leading to 20 the May 15th meeting, and other topics relevant to the 21 amended motion.

22 This Court read and heard that there were a number 23 of legal disputes between the parties; these include the 24 meaning of certain provisions in the plan administrator 25 agreement, the standard for removing the plan administrator

1 for cause, the admissibility of certain evidence, and whether 2 the relief movants were seeking was appropriate. This Court
3 knows the time and expenses resulted from this litigation 4 from the papers we filed and from the testimony at trial.

5 With all the history here and all the disputes 6 between the parties, it took significant effort and 7 compromise on behalf of all the parties involved to reach a 8 settlement that resolves all the open issues between movants
9 and Quest and allows the estates and the successor plan 10 administrator to move forward with the work left to do in 11 these estates.

12 The parties will also assisted in this effort by 13 the CVV Trustees and their counsel, who played a mediating 14 role in helping the parties reach this settlement.

15 The settlement will provide global peace between 16 the parties. The core terms of the settlement, in principal, 17 were read into the record by Mr. Tecce on May 13th. We have 18 since memorialized them in a stipulation that was filed with 19 the Court at Docket 14749. If the Court would like, I can 20 briefly go over them again. I'm sensitive to the folks 21 behind me and --

22 THE COURT: I -- yes, with the key word "briefly."

23 MR. WAISNOR: Yes, Your Honor.

24 THE COURT: Thank you.

25 MR. WAISNOR: So the key terms are as follows:

1 Quest shall receive a base fee of $1,125,000 on the 2 settlement effective date as compensation for services
3 rendered from April 1st, 2018 through June 30th, 2019, 4 exclusive of base fees previously paid for this period.

5 Quest will retain the right to receive success fees 6 on the terms as set forth in the first amendment to the plan 7 administrator agreement.

8 The termination date in the plan administrator
9 agreement is changed to June 30th, 2019.

10 The successor plan administrator, Thomas P.
11 Jeremiassen, began transition services on June 1st, 2019. He 12 will assume the duties of plan administrator on the later of 13 July 1 or the settlement effective date. And so, if -- I 14 think, if the Court approves the settlement by June 15th, Mr.
15 Jeremiassen will be able to assume those duties by July 1st.

16 The successor plan administrator will receive 17 compensation of 25,000 per month, and the other terms of his 18 engagement are set forth in a separate agreement.

19 The plan administrator agreement will terminate on 20 June 30th, 2019; however, certain provisions, including 21 Provisions 4.5, certain effect of termination, and 4.7, 22 indemnification, survive termination. The indemnification
23 rights of Quest and the CVV Trustees will also survive 24 termination.

25 Quest agrees to provide reasonable services and

1 cooperate with the successor plan administrator, including 2 with respect to the insurance coverage litigation pending 3 before Your Honor.

4 After June 30th, 2019, Quest will be compensated at 5 Quest's hourly rates.

6 Quest will cause Adelphia to commence transfer of a 7 distribution of $5 million to holders of general unsecured 8 claims within five days of the settlement effective date.

9 The trustees have approved the internal transfer of funds in 10 the amount of $5 million for the purpose of allowing Quest to 11 process this distribution.

12 And finally, Your Honor, there will be general 13 releases of all parties in connection with the motion, the 14 amended motion, or with respect to Quest's release for any of 15 Quest's acts or omissions while serving as plan
16 administrator.

17 And the stipulation was signed by the movants; 18 Quest, on behalf of itself and as Plan Administrator of 19 Adelphia; and the CVV Trustees.

20 There is also a second amendment to the plan 21 administrator agreement, which is attached as Annex A to the 22 stipulation, and is between Quest and the CVV Trustees. This 23 amendment was added to address the changes in Quest's 24 engagement and track the terms of the stipulation.

25 And per Your Honor's instruction on May 13th, we

1 gave broad notice of the settlement. We served notice of the 2 settlement and copies of the stipulation and the second 3 amendment on the pre-confirmation 2002 list, which consists 4 of over 250 parties. We also served it on the post-5 effective-date list, which consists over 60 additional 6 parties. Notice was given to the U.S. Trustee and there are 7 affidavits of service filed on the docket.

8 And again, Your Honor, this settlement is in the 9 best interests of the estates and should be approved. The 10 parties have expended enormous amounts of time and effort on 11 this contested matter.

12 There are a number of legal issues that remain to 13 be decided by Your Honor if the trial were to continue. They 14 would require additional testimony and argument, perhaps 15 briefing, which would add to the burden and expense that's 16 already been incurred.

17 Given the history between the parties and what's at 18 stake for these estates, there was a high probability that 19 any decision could have resulted in an appeal from one or 20 more of the parties, resulting in further expenditure of time 21 and resources and distraction of the parties from 22 administration of the estates.

23 I don't think there's any dispute here that the 24 plan administrator and movants were sophisticated parties 25 with respect to bankruptcy matters, generally. They were

1 certainly at arm's length during this entire process. The 2 parties here have been represented by sophisticated
3 bankruptcy and litigation counsel: The folks at Willkie Farr 4 and Wollmuth Maher, on behalf of Quest; Quinn Emanuel, on 5 behalf of Solus and ACC Claims Holdings; and Kasowitz, on 6 behalf of the CVV Trustees.

7 The settlement is supported by 90 percent of 8 holders of allowed claims, through ACC Claims Holdings, which 9 is one of the movants here. The trustees also support the 10 settlement and were involved in mediating, negotiating, and 11 finalizing it.

12 The settlement will put an end to this litigation, 13 the associated risks, and the litigating provider; provide 14 for the smooth transition of a successor plan administrator 15 to manage the estates; and we believe it's certainly 16 preferable to continued litigation of this dispute.

17 With respect to the sole objection that was 18 received from Mr. Desai, who is -- claims to be a pre-19 effective-date Adelpia shareholder, he raises three 20 concerns:

21 The first one I'll address only briefly because I 22 think it's been covered by similar objections that have been 23 filed before. But Mr. Desai argues that the senior ACC 24 creditors in this case have already been paid in full, and 25 that there need to be provisions in the settlement for 1 oversight of the interests of equity holders.

2 Judge Gerber addressed this issue with Mr. Desai in 3 2015, which is at Docket Number 14622. This Court held, in 4 2017, that it was not going to take -- revisit this decision 5 at 14670.

6 And we believe that Mr. Desai misunderstands the 7 purpose of this settlement, which is the settlement of a 8 motion to remove the plan administrator for cause and for 9 appointment of a successor administrator. There is nothing 10 in the settlement that would require provisions for oversight 11 of interests of equity holders.

12 Mr. Desai also argues that the successor plan 13 administrator was handpicked by the creditors. This is not 14 the case. As the movants here have stated in their reply 15 brief, the CVV Trustees selected the successor plan
16 administrator. The second amendment also says that the CVV 17 Trustees will appoint the successor plan administrator.

18 And finally, Mr. Desai claims that the settlement 19 lacks procedures to ensure the successor plan administrator 20 can get up to speed on the history of these cases. We don't 21 think there's any reasonable concern about the successor's 22 qualifications, given the involvement of the trustees and his 23 selection.

24 The Court has heard Mr. Ziehl's testimony as to the 25 trustees' oversight of Quest, at least, for more than a

1 decade. There's no reason to think they would appoint a plan 2 administrator who they knew to be either conflicted or not 3 capable of performing his duties.

4 The settlement documents also provide for a 5 transition period for the successor administrator to work
6 alongside Quest, while Quest is still PA. Quest has agreed 7 to provide reasonable assistance after it steps down as plan
8 administrator at hourly rates. And the successor plan
9 administrator will be paid a flat fee. And the trustees 10 will, obviously, continue to oversee the plan administrator.

11 So, unless Your Honor has any questions, that 12 concludes my presentation, and I'll turn the podium to Mr.
13 Tecce, if he has anything, or Mr. Harwood.

14 THE COURT: All right. Anything from you, Mr.
15 Tecce?

16 MR. TECCE: Your Honor, very briefly, and without 17 repetition. The movants negotiated the settlement with two 18 estate fiduciaries. It resolves a very long-running dispute, 19 longer than 18 months. There were years of discussions 20 leading up to the litigation and it was a difficult 21 litigation. It was not one that was prosecuted lightly by 22 the movants, there were sensitive issues. And it resolves 23 that. And there was no alternative, apart from the 24 settlement, but to go forward with the hearing, to hear from 25 more witnesses, and to have the Court issue a decision.

1 That's all been obviated by the settlement.

2 Clinically, Your Honor, it was negotiated by two 3 estate fiduciaries, the CVV Trustees and the plan 4 administrator, both of whom are appointed under the plan for 5 the purpose of safeguarding the estates and their 6 stakeholders. They are counterparties to this agreement, 7 they have negotiated it. And the third party is our clients, 8 Your Honor, and they represent or hold -- they don't 9 represent, but they hold 90 percent of the unsecured claims 10 of Adelpia.

11 I did want to clarify that the successor
12 administrator will be performing at a twenty-five-thousand-13 dollar base fee, without a success fee. And that individual 14 was not selected by our clients, but was selected by the CVV 15 Trustees. They are an estate fiduciary; it was their 16 selection. Obviously, we support that selection, but I 17 wanted to make it clear that that was not done by us.

18 I believe that's it, Your Honor. I think we 19 respectfully submit that the settlement should be approved 20 and we ask that you do so.

21 THE COURT: Thank you very much.

22 MR. TECCE: Thank you, sire.

23 THE COURT: All right. I understand there's one 24 objecting party, who is here. The objection was filed on the 25 docket, Docket Number 14752. That high docket number is

02-41729-shl Doc 14765 Filed 07/02/19 Entered 07/02/19 12:16:59 Main Document

1 clearly a reflection of the age of the case. And that 2 individual is here.
3 I've read your pleading, and I'll give you a brief 4 -- a very brief opportunity to add anything addition to what 5 you've submitted to me.
6 MR. DESAI: Thank you. Honorable Judge Sean Lane, 7 I am Mapin Desai. I'll make my statement brief, so there is 8 no misunderstanding or incorrect representation of my 9 statements.
10 THE COURT: Well, I have your written statement, so 11 -- 12 MR. DESAI: Right.
13 THE COURT: -- so I'm not relying on anybody else
14 to tell me what you think; I'm relying on what you filed.
15 MR. DESAI: Well, I have maybe five minutes of 16 something --
17 THE COURT: I'm going to give you three.
18 MR. DESAI: Okay.
19 THE COURT: As you see --
20 MR. DESAI: I'll try --
21 THE COURT: -- I have a big courtroom here.
22 MR. DESAI: Okay.
23 THE COURT: The whole point of this -- 24 MR. DESAI: Yes.
25 THE COURT: -- is to be able to submit documents.

02-41729-shl Doc 14765 Filed 07/02/19 Entered 07/02/19 12:16:59 Main Document
Pg 16 of 23 16

1 The other thing I'll tell you -- and I will give 2 you a chance to speak -- much of what you have in here is a 3 repeat of objections you filed in this case numerous times, 4 that Judge Gerber has dealt with before and that I dealt 5 with, as well, in 2017. If they were new, I would give you 6 more time, but much of it is not new, it's a repeat of some 7 objections I've -- and I think I have a written order on it 8 in 2017. So with that said --
9 MR. DESAI: Yeah.
10 THE COURT: Go ahead.
11 MR. DESAI: Yeah, I -- I appreciate the time.
12 Thank you, Judge.
13 Adelphia creditors' claims of $4 billion was 14 rejected in June 2008 by U.S. District Court order. And by 15 rejecting those claims, Honorable Judge Lawrence McKenna said 16 that it is clear from the joint plan's provisions that all 17 the creditors of Adelphia have been paid in full -- 18 THE COURT: Okay. This -- 19 MR. DESAI: -- and have been paid --
20 THE COURT: This is the same --
21 MR. DESAI: -- what they are due.
22 THE COURT: -- argument that I've heard before and 23 Judge Gerber --
24 MR. DESAI: Right. It's just -- 25 THE COURT: -- has already --

1 MR. DESAI: -- the background that I'm trying to 2 set for --
3 THE COURT: No, but I -- that's -- let me just give 4 you my reason why I'm interrupting you is: Courts have a lot 5 of things that they need to address, and it's sort of a -- 6 because of that, it's a fundamental principle that, if we've 7 decided something, we need to move on. And you can file 8 whatever you'd like to file in an appellate court, and you 9 have filed things, I suspect, in the District Court on appeal 10 in this case. But once I've ruled on it, we're done on that 11 issue and we move on to the next issue. So, as I said 12 before, there's already been a ruling that I have made, as 13 well as Judge Gerber has made, about those issues.
14 So what else do you want to tell me that doesn't 15 relate to your claim that all the unsecured creditors have 16 been paid in full?
17 MR. DESAI: And that ruling was affirmed in May 18 2010, U.S. Second Circuit Court, by three judges, so -- and - 19 - 20 THE COURT: What do you have to say about this 21 particular settlement?
22 MR. DESAI: Okay. This particular settlement,
23 Adelpia creditors had appointed Mr. Bryan Bloom as a Trustee 24 of Adelpia Recovery Trust, and it was found up to five years
25 that he had conflict of interest. So I'm raising a flag

1 right now --
2 THE COURT: That doesn't relate to this settlement.
3 This settlement is -- has to do with Quest's role and who is 4 going to take over Quest role and under what circumstances.
5 So that's not what -- what you've just raised is not part of 6 what's in front of me.
7 So what else do you want to tell me? And you've 8 got two minutes left.
9 MR. DESAI: Okay. I respectfully request that the 10 U.S. District Court order of Lawrence McKenna be not 11 circumvented. I respectfully request that the Second Circuit 12 Court order of Honorable Jose Cabranes, Robert Katzman, and 13 Honorable Denny Chin -- which also rejected Adelpia creditor 14 claims be not circumvented.
15 THE COURT: All right.
16 MR. DESAI: I am also requesting that the post-17 petition interest, which is prohibited by New York out-of-18 pocket rule and also by Pennsylvania out-of-pocket rule, be 19 not violated.
20 THE COURT: All right. Thank you very much.
21 MR. DESAI: Thank you.
22 THE COURT: All right. Having heard from the 23 parties, I'm going to make my ruling, and my ruling is to 24 approve the settlement.
25 The settlement clearly satisfies the requirements

1 for Rule 9019. In the interest of the fact that we have a 2 full courtroom today, I'm not going to complete all of the 3 arguments on that score that have been presented to me by the 4 movants, but I agree with them.

5 But just to sort of sum up briefly, this was a 6 dispute between Solus, who holds most of the unsecured
7 creditor claims, and Quest in their role of plan 8 administrator, about whether Quest was doing the job that 9 Solus thought it should been doing. It was very contentious, 10 it had been stretching out over some period of time, and the 11 whole idea was to try to conclude this case in an appropriate 12 manner.

13 After two days of trial and a third day on deck, 14 the parties reached a settlement, which I think is eminently 15 sensible and reasonable, and allows the case -- which is from 16 2002 -- a path forward to meaningful conclusion. The 17 alternative to that is further litigation, where I would 18 either have decided Quest could stay under particular terms 19 and conditions, or that there needs to be someone else to 20 come in. Those were the options before me, anyway. So the 21 terms of the settlement dealing with the nitty-gritty of what 22 Quest is doing and not doing and what somebody else is going 23 to do coming in as the plan administrator, or frankly, where 24 we were going to end up in this case anyway. It's the 25 details that were going to matter.

1 It was clearly negotiated among folks who are 2 highly competent and who have an interest in the case, two 3 estate fiduciaries and Solus, who has been involved in this 4 case and who filed this in their role as the party holding 5 the vast majority of unsecured claims. And I am satisfied 6 that this is the best way for the case to go forward. That's 7 really what this settlement provides. It allows folks to not 8 be distracted by this litigation.

9 As to the objection, the primary objection that has 10 been provided by Mr. Desai is a repeat of objections he's 11 made stretching back for sometime, including 2013, 2017, with 12 his argument that it's clear that all creditors of Adelphia 13 have been paid what they are due. That was rejected by Judge 14 Gerber, who had the case from its inception, and it was also 15 rejected by me in 2017, when it was brought before me. There 16 was no appeal of my order in 2017. That's all law of the 17 case, res judicata, collateral estoppel; whatever legal label 18 you'd like to put on it.

19 As to the other two objections, they really have to 20 do with the mechanics; that is, who handpicked the successor 21 administrator and what's going to happen, is it going to take 22 too much time. The trustees are going to pick the new plan 23 administrators, that's the way it goes, that's what they are 24 supposed to do. I see no reason to secondguess their role in 25 doing so and how they proceeded with that role. And in fact,

1 no one has given me any evidence to question it whatsoever.

2 As to the mechanics of things and Mr. Desai's 3 concerns it will take too much time to get up to speed and it 4 will somehow skew distribution, again, he's a shareholder.
5 This is all about the unsecured creditors, who, led by Solus, 6 had their concerns about how the case is going to be wrapped 7 up. It's important to remember that. And while I'm not 8 going to get into issues of standing, per se, it needs to be 9 understood to put this in context.

10 But clearly, any time -- it cannot be that you can 11 never have a plan administrator in a case if it's appropriate 12 to have a new plan administrator. This is a case where the 13 parties, after extensive litigation and presenting me with an 14 extensive record, have reached a conclusion that I think is 15 eminently supported by the record in front of me, both for 16 purposes of settlement and based on information I learned at 17 trial.

18 Mr. Desai can hold sort of one thing as solace 19 which is the trial made very clear what's left in the case 20 and the particular issues that need to be pursued, those were 21 all explained very clearly by all parties. And the whole 22 idea is to wrap up the case. That was, in fact, one of the 23 primer drivers for Solus' litigation in the first place. So 24 I think it's pretty clear, the parties were able to explain
25 to me what needs to be done. And I'm pretty confident that a

1 new trustee can come in -- I'm sorry -- a new administrator 2 can come in and pick that ball up without a hiccup.

3 So, for all those reasons and based on all the 4 information in the papers, the record of the case, including 5 all of the information presented to me at trial, I find the 6 settlement is reasonable, satisfies all of the requirements 7 under Rule 9019, and applicable case law.

8 So please submit a proposed order and the objection 9 is overruled. And the order can simply say the objection is 10 overruled for the reasons stated on the record at today's 11 hearing. Thank you very much.

12 COUNSEL: Thank you, Your Honor. Thank you very 13 much, Your Honor.

14 THE COURT: Thank you. Thank you, sir. Have a 15 good day.

Re: In re Adelpia Communications Corp., et al., Case No. 02-41729 (SHL)

Dear Judge Lane:

We are counsel for the Adelpia Recovery Trust (the “ART”) and write, in accordance with your chambers’ request, to respond to the letter of Mapin Desai dated October 10, 2016 and docketed October 14, 2016 [Docket No. 14652].

The ART was formed pursuant to the confirmed First Modified Fifth Amended Joint Chapter 11 Plan of Reorganization (the “Plan”) for the purpose of prosecuting various causes of action transferred to the ART pursuant to the Plan and distributing the net proceeds to Adelpia stakeholders that received interests in the ART under the Plan. The Plan became effective on February 13, 2007.

There are approximately $4.9 billion in principal of unpaid creditor interests in the ART. In addition, there are over $1 billion of accrued dividends to which creditor holders of ART interests would become entitled if the ART had sufficient assets to pay principal amounts in full. The most recently published balance sheet for the ART reflects that, after prior distributions totaling approximately $295 million, less than $20 million of net assets remain in the ART as of September 30, 2016. At a hearing held on September 9, 2015, Judge Gerber authorized the cancellation of junior interests in the ART, including those issued to holders of pre-petition equity interests, because they were definitively “out of the money” by billions of dollars. See Docket Nos 14627, 14631. Therefore, Mr. Desai, as a putative “Adelpia stockholder,” has no legal or economic interest in the ART.

The ART issues written “Quarterly Updates” that are publicly available and contain, among other things, financial statements for the ART, and updates regarding the status of causes of action and other pertinent matters. The Quarterly Updates also contain a chart summarizing the distributions (the “Distribution Summary”) that have been made by the ART in accordance with the waterfall that was established by the Plan and orders of the Court. The Distribution Summary contained in the Quarterly Update for the quarter ended June 30, 2016, about which Mr. Desai complains, contains exactly the same information as the Distribution Summary in the

We are unable to comprehend how Mr. Desai came to conclude that this meaningless variation indicates a scheme to “smuggle $6 billion” – or projects any conduct of any kind whatsoever. Putting aside that there are no billions of dollars, the ART has not changed the distribution priorities established a decade ago by the Plan and its ancillary documents, and nothing in the Quarterly Update or any other document suggests otherwise. The ART intends to continue to make distributions in accordance with the confirmed Plan to the extent assets become available for distribution.

This is but the latest of many frivolous objections and letters that Mr. Desai and his family have sent to the Court. Judge Gerber previously explained to Mr. Desai that he is badly misconstruing prior orders entered in Adelpia proceedings, but Mr. Desai has declined to take heed. Insofar as no affirmative relief has been requested, and certainly no facts exist to warrant any, we respectfully suggest that no action by the Court with respect to Mr. Desai’s October 10 letter is required or appropriate. We will of course stand available to address any questions or concerns the Court may have.

Respectfully submitted,

KASOWITZ, BENSON, TORRES
